THE SUMMER INSTITUTE

Closed Yesterday, After a Successful Session of Four Weeks,

THE SUMMER NORMAL INSTITUTE Of Fort Worth closed yesterday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock, with a social The examination began on Thursday, and occupied till Saturday noon. A large field of study was embraced in the schedule, and efficiency was seeured by the number There were ularly employed. In addition to the regular branches taught-music (vocal), drawing (free-hand), and calesthenics were so thoroughly learned that all the members of the training class will be able to teach them to their pupils hereafter without further instruction. Twenty-five regularly attended this institute. These will go forth and be able to teach one thousand pupils.

Barring all criticisms upon the intentions imputed to the mayor and the city council for establishing this fastitute, it can safely be said that great good has come out of it, and the more so, because it has been in our own city and from our own people.
